LOAN SHARK BILL MEETS OPPOSITION

Motion to Adjourn Finally Prevents a Vote.

The opposition to the District of Columbia loan shark bill in the Senate experienced an interval of worry yesterday afternoon, when it looked as though the measure would go through that body despite their best efforts to prevent. A roll call, which developed the lack of a quorum and eventually a motion by Senator Penrose, which adjourned the Senate for the day, formed the result of the tactics they adopted.

Senator Curtis, the acting chairman of the District Committee, succeeded in bringing the loan shark bill up for consideration immediately after the adjournment of the reorganization bill. The Statehood bill was the next regular order of the Senate, but the reorganization bill was passed so early that an interval remained between then and the hour for closing miscellaneous business and admitting the Statehood measure. The calendar accordingly was put forward, and Senator Curtis seized the opportunity to have the money lending bill taken up. Senator Heyburn asked that it be passed over, whereupon Senator Curtis entered a formal motion for the bill's consideration. The Idaho Senator retorted with a call for a quorum, and many Senators who had retired to obtain their lunches were brought back into the chamber.

The motion of Senator Curtis was carried according to a viva voce vote, but Senator Reed, of Missouri, demanded a roll call and then a call for a quorum. Most of the Senators had returned to the luncheon room, however, and it was evident that there was no serious intention of going on with regular business. Senator Penrose accordingly moved adjournment, and the Senate dispersed, leaving the much buffeted bill to regulate the lending of money in the District in the air. It remains in its position on the Senate calendar, and will be called up again by Senator Curtis when the first opportunity offers.

FIDELITY TRUST IS SUED

Allen & Keefe, Assign Corporation Cannot Equip and Operate Line Already Built in District and Push Claims for Sums Said to Be Due on Notes.

William H. H. Allen and Webster M. Keefe, trading as Allen & Keefe, yesterday filed a petition in court to appoint receivers for the Baltimore and Washington Transit Company, of Baltimore, its principal place of business being in the District. The Fidelity Trust Company, of Baltimore, is sued as trustee securing an issue of $100,000 of first mortgage bonds of the transit company. Petitioners allege that the defendant transit company is indebted to them for $1,500 on a promissory note, now long overdue, and for $5,000 on two promissory notes upon which interest has not been paid. Petitioners state they own $50,000 of the par value of the first mortgage bonds upon which default in the payment of the coupon due December, 1910, has been made.

It is claimed in the declaration that under act of Congress granting to the transit company valuable franchises in the District, the company must place in active operation on or before August 27 next its railroad situated in the District, which is now built.

Cannot Equip Road.
It is alleged that large sums have been spent upon the building of the line, but that the company has no rolling stock to place same in operation, and no assets or credit wherewith to secure rolling stock.

Petitioners say they are informed and believe that the company is insolvent, and that unless it is placed in operation by August 27 next all franchises in the District will be forfeited and forever lost to the creditors, bondholders and stockholders. Petitioners claim to be the largest individual stockholders of the company.

Justice Barnard appointed Arthur L. Shreve receiver, fixing his bond at $1,000, and authorized him to issue receiver's certificates not exceeding $25,000 for the purpose of repairing the road, procuring the necessary equipment, and operating the road.

Road Ready for Use.

The road, which begins at the terminus of the Fourteenth street car line, extends to Takoma Park and is all finished and ready for use. The officers of the company are H. W. Williams, Baltimore, president; W. A. Mellon, Takoma Park, vice president; Paul Sieman, secretary and treasurer, and the officers and J. W. Shreve form the board of directors. Among the principal stockholders are the real estate firm of Terrell & Little, and about half a dozen other members of real estate companies holding property along the line.

Norton M. Little, of the firm of Terrell & Little, said last night that the appointment of a receiver and the winding up of the affairs of the transit company was the first step in the reorganization of the road.

Considerable interest was occasioned some time ago when the promoters of the road undertook to install a gasoline motor street railway car as an experimental effort in its equipment.

The car was brought to the city, but owing to certain technical defects, did not prove successful. During the last session of Congress a law was passed giving the road additional time in which to begin operations before making it subject to the heavy penalty which the original charter provided for failure to complete the project.

Justice Barnard Dismisses Petition for Receiver.

Justice Barnard yesterday dismissed the petition of John H. Turpin asking for the appointment of a receiver for the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and now the case will go to a hearing on its merits. The bill of complaint against the order charged mismanagement and a diversion of the funds belonging to policy holders of the fourth class to the use of members of the fifth class.

Turpin said his assessments had been increased from $7 a month to $40 every thirty days. A reserve fund of $300,000 is said to be involved in this suit. Turpin also alleged insolvency of the fourth-class fund.

Court Has Petition for a License Under Adversement.

Justice Barnard yesterday heard arguments in the mandamus suit brought by the owners of Bruen Home, 424 34 street northwest, to compel the Commissioners to grant a license to the institution. The court took the case under advisement.

Congress recently passed a law regulating all hospitals and asylums in the District. The consent of two-thirds of the property owners in the neighborhood must be obtained before a hospital or asylum can be established. The Bruen Home people contend the home is a retreat for children.
